Zoom Imagination Whatever is under the whole heaven in mine. Job 41:11

Zoom Fatigue

Are you growing weary of zoom meetings? Do you sometimes have days which are back to back zoom meetings? Are you tired of seeing your own face on the screen while you are talking or taking part in a meeting? Are you growing more frustrated with slow internet, poor sound quality, or others who do not know how to practice good zoom etiquette? Do you think that zoom meetings are not as productive as in person meetings? You are not alone.

Zoom Imagination

I share those frustrations from time to time. I sometimes just can't do another zoom meeting that day. Overall, everyone else is helpful, responsive, and polite on zoom. But, it can get tiresome. Here is the challenge I sense coming from the Spirit of God to me: Do I have the capacity and imagination to believe and expect that God will work as powerfully in a zoom meeting as anywhere else? Do I have to be in a church building or in person with others for God to be able to work among us, provide for us, forgive us, heal us, or build us up? May God give us one and all the imagination and capacity to see him at work powerfully in zoom meetings and everywhere else.
